

ICAR-National Research Centre on Pig, Guwahati has celebrated the Agricultural Education Day, 2017

ICAR-NRC on Pig, Guwahati has organized the Agricultural Education Day on 03-12-16 at the Institute Campus. More than 100 piggery farmers including Scientists, invited guests, research fellows and progressive farmers have participated on the said occasion. On this occasion, Dr. Dilip Kumar Sarma, Director, ICAR NRC on Pig, has highlighted the growing importance of quality education in piggery farming and allied agriculture. Professor Bhabesh Chandra Goswami, Vice Chancellor of Cotton University, Guwahati was the Chief Guest and Dr. Nalin Kumar Mohan, Former Director of Extension Education, Assam Agricultural University was the Guest of Honour for the function. The Chief Guest emphasized on organic farming and application of organic manure which can be easily developed by the households. Dr. N.K. Mohan while delivering the lecture stressed on the integrated farming for increasing the farmers' income. Interaction between farmers and scientists was also held on various aspects of agriculture including scientific piggery farming and value addition of pork and pork products.

